

The Alpha Course

Over 11 million people worldwide have now attended an Alpha course, an opportunity to explore the meaning of life, running in tens of thousands of churches of all denominations, and at universities, in prisons and on military bases across the world.

At an Alpha course, people explore the Christian faith in a relaxed setting over ten thought-provoking weekly sessions, with a day or weekend away. This video series is guided by Nicky Gumbel from Trinity Church in London, England. More information is available at www.alphana.org.

It is low-key, friendly and fun – and is supported by all the main Christian denominations.

Conveniently located in the heart of Bangor at the old Dow Chapel on the University College of Bangor campus, Neighborhood Church periodically offers The Alpha Course. In addition, Neighborhood Church offers weekly adult Sunday School and children's programs.

For more information on the next Alpha Course or Neighborhood Church, please contact the church office at 945-9937.